DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The amendment filed on August 29, 2003 has been entered; no new claims have been added.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The limitation "said slice check wire ... being disposed on a first wire layer among a plurality of wire layers on said substrate" recited in claim 1 is not fully disclosed in the specification to enable one skilled in the art to make and/or use the invention. Without this information it would take undue experimentation to make and use the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 5 and 9-11, as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Funakoshi et al (JP 9-289181).

Funakoshi et al disclose in figs. 7-14 a photoelectric converter device having a plurality of pixels 301 formed on a substrate or insulating substrate (as in claim 9) comprising a slice check wire 304 for checking acceptability of a cut edge of said substrate, said slice check wire arranged outside a region where said pixels are arranged and being disposed on a first wire layer among a plurality of wire layers on said substrate.

Regarding claim 5, Funakoshi et al disclose (see par. 0085 of equivalent US PG-Pub 2003/0079583) a pad section (not shown).

As to the said wire being used for checking electrical conductivity recited in claim 5, an intended use of a claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

As to claims 10 and 11, Funakoshi et al disclose in fig. 17 a fluorescent wavelength converter Csl.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2826

7. Claims 3 and 4 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Funakoshi et al.

Funakoshi et al disclose the device structure as recited in the claim, but do not specifically disclose a constant or ground potential. However, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to connect a wire for checking acceptability of cutting of a substrate to a constant or ground potential, since that would prevent a voltage drop which could interfere with inspection process.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Watanbe et al. USPN 6,586,769 disclose a liquid crystal panel with TFTs and photoelectric conversion apparatus.

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
